

BURGLAR RAN GANTLET AMID RAIN OF BULLETS

Volley of Shots from Windows Fail to Hit Thief.

Aroused from her sleep in her home on the top floor of the six-story tenement-house at No. 118-120 East One Hundred and Eleventh street by a burglar bending over her bed, Mrs. Mary Urban was too frightened to get out of bed. She saw that the man was young, possibly thirty, smooth-faced, weighing about 160 pounds, and that he wore a good suit of dark clothing and a soft hat.

The burglar evidently believed the woman asleep, and when she suddenly regained her voice and gave a piercing scream he sprang to the fire-escape in the rear of the building. Mrs. Urban rushed after him, and screaming, and as he got on the escape she started down to the court and continued to yell: "Thief! Murderer!"

Heads were poked from every window on both sides of the court. Men saw the man on the fire-escape, and began hurling missiles at him. Then one man got a revolver and fired three times at the escaping burglar. Another man from the window of his flat, began shooting, and bullets pattered on the house and fire-escape, but none seemed to reach the fleeing man.

Reaching the yard, the burglar vaulted over a fence, and running across the next court, climbed another escape, where he was seen by Police Officer Taylor, of the East One Hundred and Fourth Street Station. Taylor had come in answer to the crime and shot. By this time every person on the street had been attracted, and such were the screams and so constant the shooting that the reserves, twenty-five strong, came on the run. They surrounded the block, and Taylor gave the order to fire.

The policeman saw the burglar run up the stairs leading to the rear door of the tenement-house, fronting on One Hundred and Tenth street. He was almost upon him when the latter opened the door and ran inside, slamming the door as the policeman ran against it.

The police say that the man could not possibly have escaped from the block, so well was it surrounded by the squad, yet a search of the house failed to reveal his hiding place. "Don't you think that man lives in the tenement in the vicinity?" Taylor was asked.

"I do," replied the policeman, "and I think also that he has a key that admitted him to the house where he slammed the door in my face."

Mrs. Urban's husband had been detained in the Bronx on business overnight and arrived at home this morning to find his wife in over her terrifying experience.

The police later found the skeleton key used by the burglar in gaining entrance to the Urban flat.

WIFE OFFERS $100 REWARD.
One hundred dollars reward awaits the man or woman who can furnish information of the whereabouts of Samuel Wilson, formerly of No. 118 West Tenth street, and so relieve the wife, uncertain of his fate.

Wilson, who was in the employ of the Frederick Butterfield Company, at No. 75 Broadway, disappeared on the night of April 10. He is thirty-two years old, about five feet ten inches in height and a blonde, with smooth-shaven face and curly hair. He wore when last seen a blue sack coat and vest, striped trousers and a black derby.

Mrs. Wilson believes that rambling at the racetrack brought about her husband's ruin, and that unwilling to face her, he deserted her on the eve of the birth of their daughter.

Mrs. Wilson may be addressed in care of Mrs. Harvey at No. 121 West Forty-fifth street, New York.

MAYOR'S LAW PARTNER IS OUT FOR JEROME.

Thomas H. Rush is the first district leader to come out and declare for District-Attorney Jerome for Governor. Mr. Rush was the former law partner of Mayor McChesney. Lately, because of the manner in which the patronage of his district was handled without his consent, according to report, Rush has been closer to Charles F. Murphy than to the Mayor.

In addition to coming out for Jerome, Mr. Rush attacked William H. Hearst bitterly, calling him a political freebooter and brigand.

The announcement of Rush, who controls the Diamond-Back Twenty-ninth riding on the Vancouver Island coast, has been met with delight by Mr. Jerome and the friends of Mayor McChesney, who feel confident that the Mayor's friends will control primaries.

VALENCIA'S BOAT NOT FOUND.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 14.—Missionaries on the Vancouver Island coast have investigated the reports of the finding of a Valencia lifeboat in a cave, according to advice brought by the tug Sea Lion, and state that the report is unfounded.
